

ACTIVITY PAGES

I love Formula One, so when I started these books, I knew I had to make Shakes a racing driver. Little did I realize that meant I would also have to draw all those race cars. And race tracks. Oy.

Hopefully your kids won't find making a race track as frustrating as I did when I started out. It did get easier, though. After all, practice, practice, practice.

As always, have fun!

Included are:

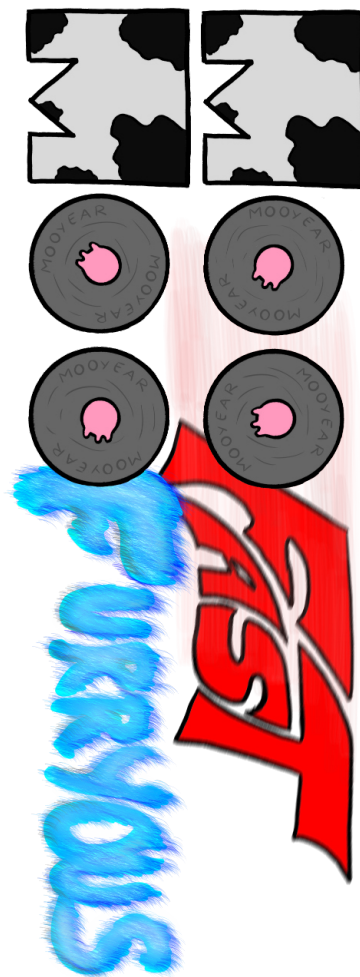

- A "Design a New Race Suit for Shakes" Page: Shakes' race team is changing their logo and design, so it's up to your children to design a new look for their suits!
- A "Finish designing the Race Track" Page: Just as it's called, finish drawing a challenging race track for Shakes to drive on!
- A "Moo Fast, Moo Furryous" Word Search brand new to this edition.

If your kidlets want to share their work from these activities, simply scan their work, or take the best pictures you can, and email to us at fans@grandpunwick.com.

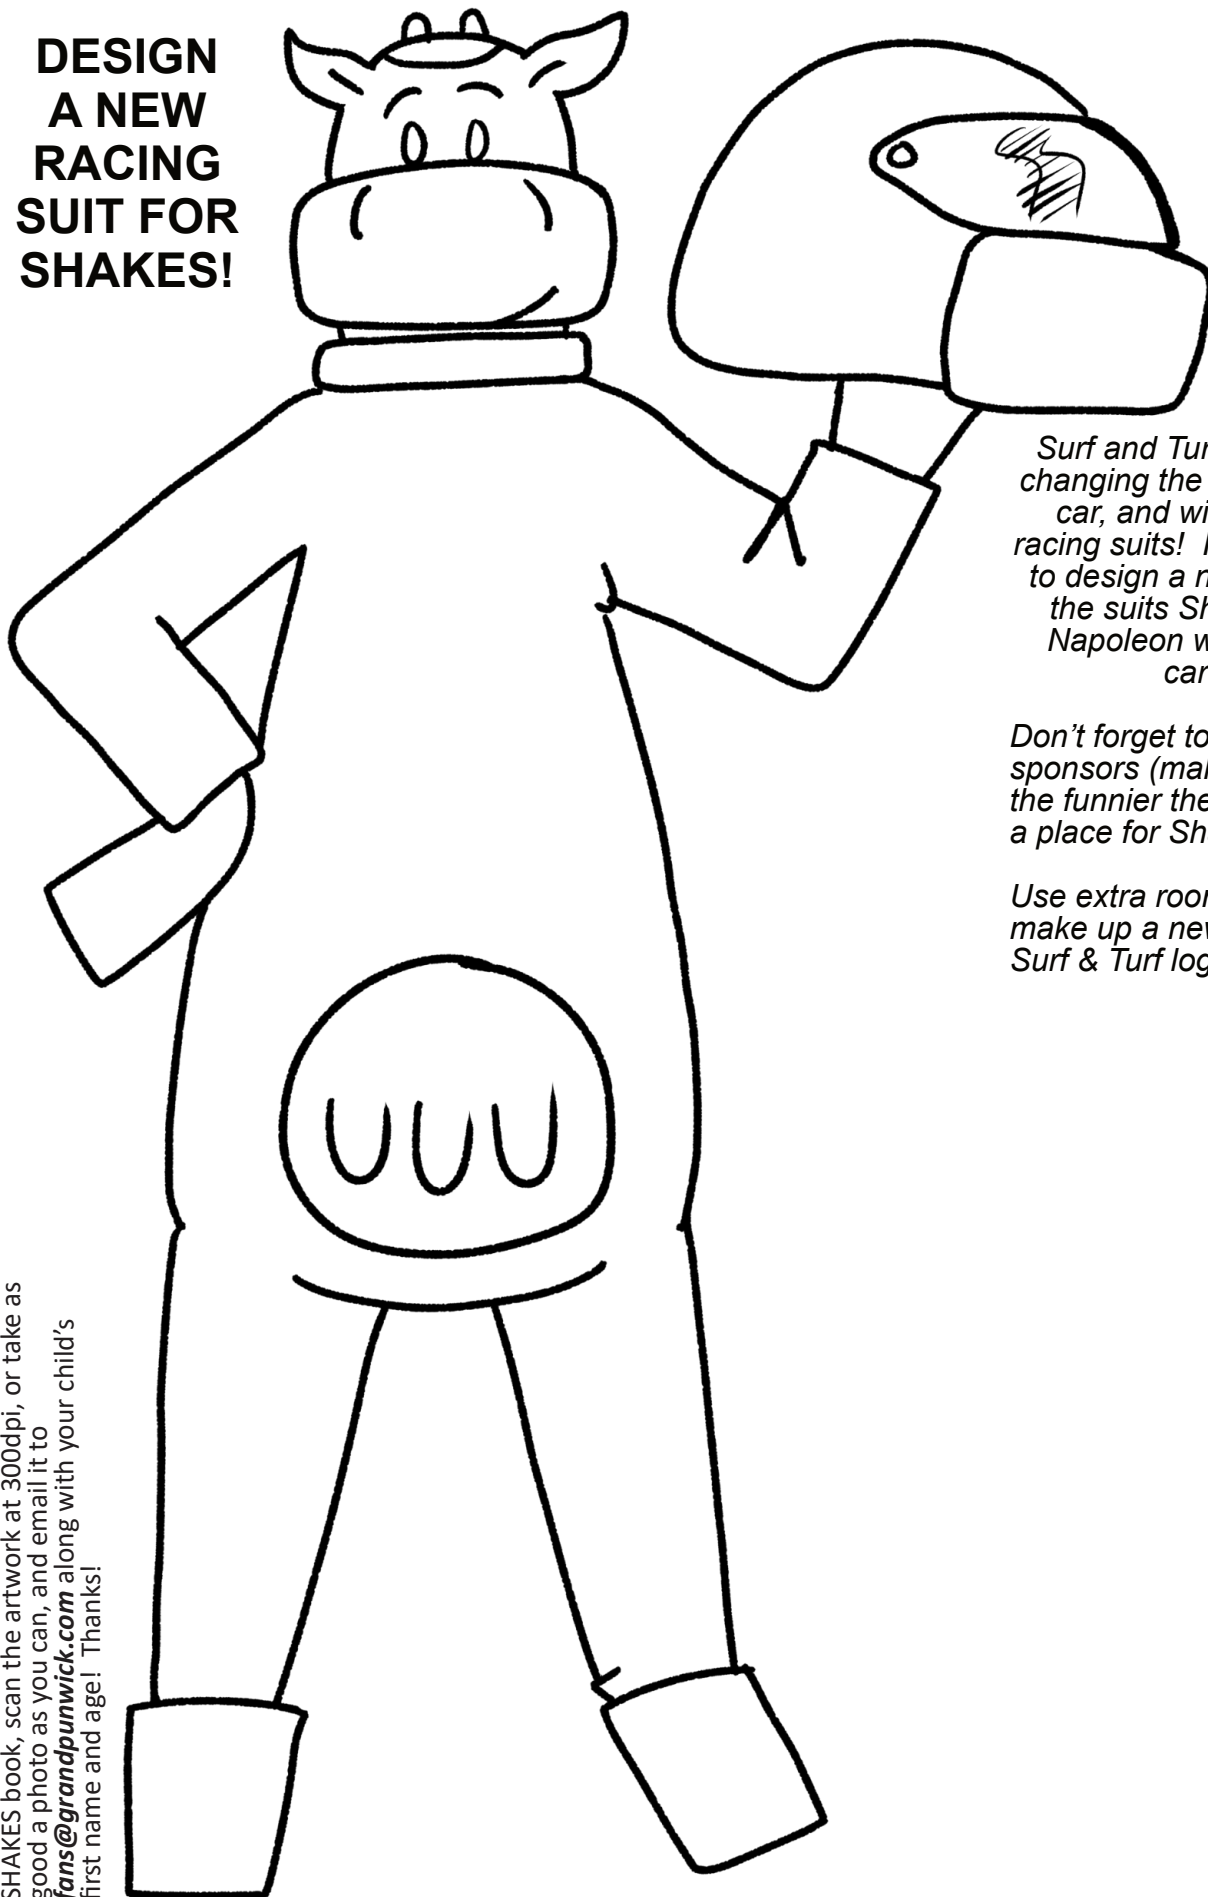

Cheers!

ABOUT J ROBERT DEANS & DEANS FAMILY PRODUCTIONS

J. Robert Deans has doodled all of his life. During his nearly ten-year career selling comics, he started drawing them for his CRASS FED web comic, which featured a cow, a penguin, and Robert's rather eclectic sense of humor. Less than a day after getting laid off, a silly idea struck: a cow lost in space. That idea became the picture book MOO THOUSAND AND PUN, the first in the SHAKES THE COW series. Since then, Deans has created a chapter book series of spy adventures (THE BEAR FROM AUNT), solo game adventure books (STEER YOUR OWN STORY), and serialized short stories inspired by 1940s cliffhangers (GRAND PUNWICK MYSTERY THEATER).

Deans very quickly joined with his wife, Elinda, and the Kidlet, Sam, to form Deans Family Productions (DFP). DFP works to create picture books, chapter books, comic books, and toys to delight children of all ages. Elinda soon started developing hand-made toys via crochet of both DFP's main characters as well as major characters "in Cowsplay." She and Sam have also started their own series, with assistance from Robert. Elinda writes the picture storybooks THE MOOSELAMBS while Sam comes up with stories for the humor superhero comics THE MIGHTY HIPPOFARTAMUS, which she also shares art duties with Robert.

All of DFP's characters live in the very real and made-up land of Grand Punwick (so, they're not just in Robert's head). You can buy our books online at bookshop.org/shop/grandpunwick, or directly from DFP via shopdfp.com. Find us online at:
